Enclosed is a donation to the Honor Flight in honor of my father, Lawrence Heindl. He farmed in Dorchester. He was a prisoner of war WWII with the 94th Infantry Div. He passed away on Sept 15, 2000. My dad would have loved this trip.

Last winter I started sewing mittens from 100% wool sweaters. I got the idea from a co-worker who had just lost her husband. He was in the Navy and she had saved a wool sweater from his Navy days. She wanted to know if I could use his sweater to make mittens for her grandkids. She would tell them that when they wore the mittens, they were holding hands with grandpa. From then on, I had lots of orders.

I had so much fun sewing them, I decided to donate 10% of my sales to the Honor Flight.
